ROCHESTER NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION

To Rochester City Council
Care of City Clerk
City Hall
Rochester N.Y.
Gentlemen:

Feb. 6, 1931.

The Rochester Numismatic Association is an association of numismatists resident in the City of Rochester and has been interested in the fine arts, particularly the medallion arts since its organization 19 years ago. This association for at least 15 years has been interested in the development of the Municipal Museum Department, maintaining the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences, and has met under the auspices of that museum almost from its inception. This interest is more than a passing one, leading the association to make the said museum the residuary legatee of collections worth many thousands of dollars. So important has this museum become among numismatists that it has been made the official depository of the American Numismatic Association, a distinction that it has enjoyed for more than 10 years.

The Rochester Numismatic Association has made frequent studies and inspections of this municipal Museum, and since most of the association's members are substantial tax payers, the progress of the said museum has been a matter of more than ordinary concern. At this juncture our concern is drawn particularly to the pressing need of the municipal museum for a better location and a modern plant, with adequate equipment. Fortunately a method of assisting the financing of such a building appears in the Rundel Fund, a bequest to the City of Rochester for the purpose of erecting a Library and Fine Arts building.

An examination of the terms of this bequest will show, we believe, that it applies equally to a museum and a library. Museums are institutions devoted to the exposition of fine arts and other subjects illustrated, or capable of illustration, by objects. Libraries are primarily concerned with books. A division of the purposes of the Rundel bequest is plainly indicated.

The Rochester Numismatic Association believes that the projected Rundel Building may most fittingly house the municipal museum plant, and the said association ~~anxiously~~ respectfully urges that every consideration be given to the consummation of the purposes of the bequest namely its joint application to both museum and library.

With these facts and desires in mind, the Rochester Numismatic Association in regular session convened, at the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences on February ²~~7~~, 1931, unanimously passed the following resolution:

Resolved that the Rochester Numismatic Association respectfully urges the Council of the City of Rochester, or its designated Committee or either of them, the application of the Rundel Fund, (so called, or designated by any other name), to the purposes of erecting a library and museum building; the part set aside for the museum to house the galleries and halls of the Department of the Municipal Museum and the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences.

Respectfully submitted,

Committee of the whole.

By Charles W. Fort, Secretary,
Committee.

ROCHESTER NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION

The regular 404th meeting of the Rochester Numismatic Association will be held at the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences Tuesday Evening at 8 o'clock sharp.

The Secretary will give the balance of his paper on "Commemorative Half-dollars."

There will be the usual Auction and Luncheon. Bring your appetites for the latter.

Have your questions been turned in to the secretary? They do not necessarily have to be something you don't know, they may be anything you think would be of interest to the other members, or something you think will stick them. Spend fifteen minutes and write out at least two to be handed in at this meeting.

QUESTIONS:

1. What are the methods used to determine counterfeit coin and paper money?

2. Why are large Copper cents classified as A-1, A-2, and with other letters before numbers?

3. What is the value at present, of the Japanese Yen in our money?

The above were submitted by Mr. X, when will we have yours?

Charles W. Foster,
Secretary.

Minutes of the meeting of Feb. 17, 1931.

ROCHESTER NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION.

The 435th regular meeting of the Rochester Numismatic Association will be held Tuesday March 3rd, at the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences, at 8 P.M.

Mr. Lange will be the speaker of the evening, his subject being the "Distribution of Maundy Money".

After which an Auction will be held and Luncheon served.

QUESTIONS:

4. Why do Doughty's numbers run into the 100d's and Andrew's only to 10 and 12?
5. Explain the different A numbers. Can the average collector classify them without extensive study?
6. When, where, and by whom were the early coins of Connecticut struck.

ANSWERS:

1. Counterfeit coins are determined by comparison with a specimen known to be genuine. The weight, size and design are compared, if this fails assay tests are made to determine the metal used and its purity. Paper money is compared in a like manner as to the paper and ink used.

QUESTIONS:

7. When, where and by whom were the early coins of Massachusetts struck?

8. What United States Patterns were counterfeited in England?

9. When was the first coin made? Who made it?

ANSWERS:

4. Doughty's numbers run in sequence while Andrews numbers run in a series for each date and each minor variety is given a separate number.

5. The different A numbers were explained at the meeting to explain them here would take more space than we have. It is generally agreed that a collector in order to classify these cents must have a copy of Andrews or a reprint and quite a little study must be made in order to classify them properly.

6. The first coins of Connecticut were struck in 1737 in Granby by John Higley a blacksmith without patent from England.

There is some question concerning the answer to this question, as some believe that other unknown blacksmiths struck coins prior to Higley
